End Points for Reception

Knowledge	Skills
I am beginning to understand the effect my behaviour can have on the environment. I know about similarities between myself and others. I know the differences between myself and others I know a similarity and difference between two families. I know a similarity and difference between two communities. I know a similarity and difference between two cultures I know a similarity and difference between two traditions.	I can compare different places based on their environments. I can make observations of the world around me.